Quality Tip of the Month

"An overdose reversal can be painful, scary, and stressful for the patient. They may not be ready to talk about addiction treatment right away, but prescribing naloxone can be a powerful way to show that you care, helping to build trust so they know where to turn when they are ready. "

-Dr. Maureen Boyle

The winds of change are coming. Are you ready for the storm?
Don't go it alone.
Let CEDR help you navigate your journey through uncharted waters.

Since its inception in 2017, the Medicare Merit-based Incentive Payment System (MIPS) program has included a plan to impose future harsh monetary penalties on many clinicians. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, these penalties were delayed in 2020 & 2021 performance years. However, in the 2022 performance year, the MIPS program will likely resume with full implementation.

The CEDR team can help your ED navigate to the best possible outcome, avoiding penalties, and potentially securing a financial bonus with a successful submission. Based on 2019 MIPS scoring, 100 percent of our CEDR participants received a financial bonus.

CEDR is your long-term partner focused on the success of the EM community. Let CEDR help you navigate your journey through these uncharted waters into 2022 and beyond.

Back Together Again for ACEP21

ACEP21 will be one of the most exciting educational conferences yet! We are excited for everyone to come back together for education, social activities, and networking! This year offers live streaming of courses from 2 of the largest course rooms throughout the entire conference with overflow seating to accommodate all attendees. There will be 30 bonus courses offered, and an emcee to help attendees through the week with instructions and information on important conference education, social and networking events. So, whether you want to Mix and Mingle, join a storytelling evening, test your cooking skills during the cooking demo, compete with your peers during trivia and knowledge night, engage in cuteness overload with live streaming puppies, penguins, and kittens, or see the puppies live in Boston, ACEP21 has something for everyone! We can't wait to be back together at ACEP21!
